The image displays four red, faceted, geometric objects, possibly made of plastic or metal, arranged in two groups. The objects have a complex, multi-faceted design, resembling stylized crystals or lenses. The left group consists of two objects: one is a larger, more complex shape with a circular opening in the center, and the other is a smaller, simpler shape with a circular opening. The right group consists of two objects: one is a larger, more complex shape with a hexagonal opening in the center, and the other is a smaller, simpler shape with a hexagonal opening. The objects are set against a plain white background.
